BSA's Mission Statement

The mission of the Boy Scouts of America is to prepare young people to make ethical and moral choices over their lifetimes by instilling in them the values of the Scout Oath and Law.

The Aims and Methods of Scouting

The Scouting program has specific objectives, commonly referred to as the "Aims of Scouting." They are character development, leadership development, citizenship training, and personal fitness. Leadership development is also one of Scouting's eight methods contributing to both good character and good citizenship.

The Methods of Scouting

- Ideals The ideals of Scouting are spelled out in the Scout Oath, the Scout Law, the Scout motto, and the Scout slogan.
- Patrols The patrol method gives Scouts an experience in group living and participating citizenship.
- Outdoor Programs Scouting is designed to take place outdoors. It is in the outdoor setting that Scouts share responsibilities and learn to live with one another.
- Advancement Scouting provides a series of surmountable obstacles and steps in overcoming them through the advancement method.
- Association with Adults Scouts learn a great deal by watching how adults conduct themselves. Scout leaders can be positive role models for the members of their troops.
- Personal Growth As Scouts plan their activities and progress toward their goals, they experience personal growth.
- Leadership Development The Scouting program encourages Scouts to learn and practice leadership skills. Every Scout has the opportunity to participate in both shared and total leadership situations.
- Uniform The uniform makes the Scout troop visible as a force for good and creates a positive youth image in the community.

Scouting is Outing!

Council & District Events

Daniel Webster Council and the Massabesic District hold outdoor events and activities throughout the Scouting year. These are held at prearranged and preplanned locations but individual units, doing their own planning, have to select their own locations.

Unit Outdoor Program Planning

At some point during the Scouting year, every unit plans their outdoor program for the upcoming period of time.

This planning helps the units outline to the Scouts and their parents what to expect for activities in the future. It also helps the units in being prepared for these trips and activities.

Unit Outdoor Program Planning

One part of this planning is to select a location to hold the activity or event.

The locations to be selected will largely depend on the activity or event to be held and skill levels of the unit's participants.

Unit Outdoor Program Planning

The location selection also has to consider other factors such as time available, age group or age range, costs involved, weather conditions, time of year, etc. all of which will influence the location selected.

You wouldn't go snow skiing in the summer or a hold a boating activity in the middle of the woods.

Location Selection

So selection of a proper location is very important. These selections are also dependent on knowing what locations are available and what features they have to offer.

This selection will require research on the part of the activity planners. Research can be performed quite well searching on the web but can also be done with phone calls to understand what is available to BSA NH units within our area.

What do we have nearby?

This leads us to understanding what do we have in our local areas and in the surrounding states.

This presentation will highlight some options does not cover every location that can be used by Scouting organizations.

State of New Hampshire

Being based in New Hampshire, we are surrounded by many natural and structured sites for camping in many locations within the state.

We benefit from the many formal camp grounds, beautiful local, state & national parks, rivers & lakes and BSA facilities located within the state.

We also have amusement parks, cross-country and alpine skiing areas, beaches, bike trails and many other outdoor features.

The New England Area

NH BSA units also benefit from being in New England which holds many similar sites within a reasonable driving distance.

The neighboring states of Maine, Massachusetts and Vermont have many of the same features of New Hampshire but can provide a different experience.

A bike trail in Vermont and New Hampshire may feature the same types of trails but hold different scenery and challenges in riding on it.

Daniel Webster Council Properties

Being registered with BSA and the DWC, units have the ability to utilized Council-owned properties.

DWC owns several properties within the state that units can sign-up to use during the year.

Other Councils, outside of NH, also own properties in this state and close by in the surrounding states. These can also be used by registered units with permission from the Council that owns them.

Daniel Webster Council Properties

DWC owns four properties in NH. These are:

- Griswold Scout Reservation is a Scouting property located near Gilmanton Iron Works, New Hampshire.
- Camp Carpenter is the Cub Scout Summer camp located in Manchester, New Hampshire.
- Pierre Hoge Scout Camp located in Walpole, New Hampshire.
- Camp Whip-O-Will located in Merrimack, New Hampshire.

NOTE: The Unity Program Center (a five-acre property in Unity, NH) is slated to be sold by DWC.

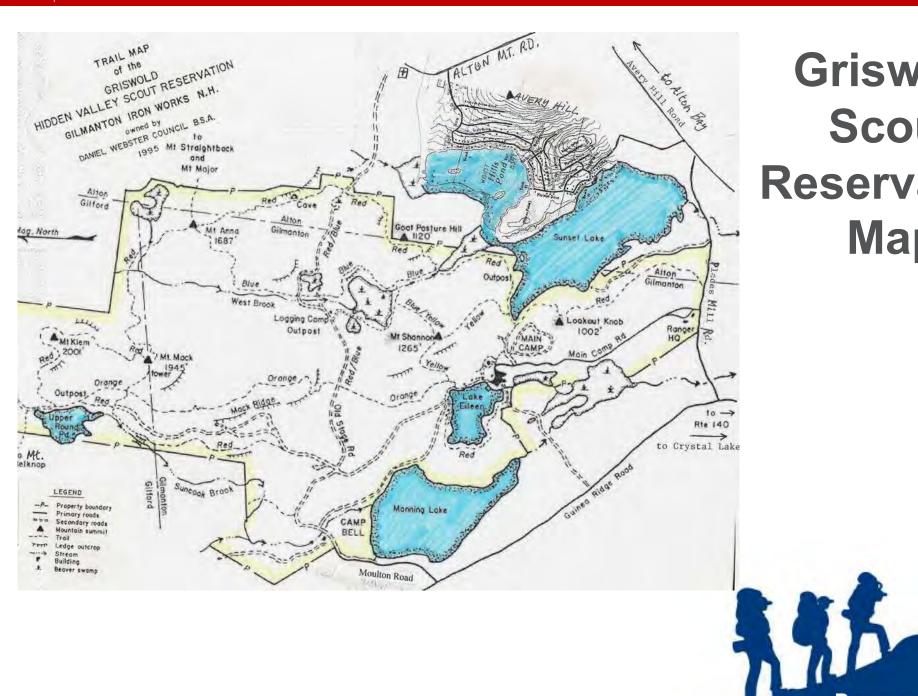

Griswold Scout Reservation

- Includes over 3,500 acres (1,400 ha) of forest, lakes, and mountains, the Scout Reservation was acquired in 1971 by the Daniel Webster Council of what was then called the Hidden Valley Scout Reservation.
- In 2000, the camp acquired additional land containing another camp which it named Camp Bell.
- DWC then relabeled the total property to the Griswold Scout Reservation.
- There are two summer camps located within GSR: Hidden Valley Scout Camp and Camp Bell.

Hidden Valley Camp

The very popular Hidden Valley camp is run as a traditional Scout camp during the summer with full dining facilities and a wide variety of program areas and activities.

But the camp is available year-round (except during the active months of summer camp) for traditional tent camping and with cabins available for winter time stays.

Camp Bell

During the summer, Camp Bell area is run with a emphasis on strengthening the Scouts BSA Patrol Method. Campers do their own cooking in their sites, and participate in day-long activities as patrols. Camp Bell has a different variety of activities from Hidden Valley, including their "living history areas," and a different set of merit badges are available.

But the camp is available year-round (except during the active months of summer camp) for traditional tent camping and with cabins available for winter time stays.
