Roverway is a European event for Scouts and Guides aged 16-22, which takes place every 3-6 years.

The next Roverway will take place in Norway in summer 2024, and our UK Contingent includes participants, International Service Team (IST) and Contingent Management Team (CMT).

What happens at Roverway?

Roverway is a unique event due to its age range and emphasis on youth-led adventure. Find out more about the history of Roverway since 2003.

In 2024, the event is divided into three parts:

Semi-independent exploration in Southern Norway

During the first five days, participants will explore a 'path' in locations such as Oslo, Bergen, Trondheim and Aalesund. Patrols will choose their path with options to suit everyone, from adventurous to cultural and creative.

Our UK patrols will join patrols from other countries to complete their chosen path, under the supervision of a Path Leader, International Service Team (IST) and Norwegian Scout Groups.

One of the highlights of Roverway is the opportunity for young people to truly shape their experience – and the paths will cater for many different interests.

Jamboree-style main camp experience near Stavanger

All the patrols join for a large camp near Stavanger. Stavanger is often called 'the gateway to the fjords', and its location on the west coast affords it access to some of Norway's most iconic scenery.

The camp is a chance to share stories from their paths and to take part in a programme of activities with young people from across Europe and beyond.

Post-event experience in Denmark

The final part of Roverway is the post-event, which sees the UK Contingent come together for a shared and unique experience.

After catching the overnight ferry to Denmark, we'll have 2 days to explore the capital city, Copenhagen.

The post-event will be actively designed by participants through our YouShape Team.
